  - The material was close but not an exact match for your tropical worsted jacket, pants, or shirt material. It was a little on the thin side. The lining and sweat band were very nice. The braid was acceptable, but I was under impressed by the quality of the reproduction.

  - Smock looked good in the picture on the website, so for $135, I figured it was worth taking the chance. Don't let the pictures fool you. The smock isn't good, it's excellent. Newey snaps and lightning zipper were details I can't do better for the price.

  - This is an accurate reproduction of the jungle gear issued around 1942. I used it in my aussie ww2 uniform video. My only suggestion is that there be a diagram for how to put equipment together (maybe also showing Accurate reproduction of hard to find early ww2 equipment)

When I saw this relatively short-lived shelter half was available, I had to get it. It's a design unique to infantry use during the Punitive Expedition, and early "Banana Wars". Well made.

I had an original hat I sold- as I need these for living history- construction is quite good, the celluloid graph/grid lenses very nicely done. It will work quite well for my intended use- U.S Signal Corps / Punitive Expedition.
